

HETHERSGILL PARISH HALL Hethersgill, Carlisle CA6 6ES

Registered Charity No.516179

Supporting the local community

Built in the 1950's Hethersgill Parish Hall enjoys high community support and regular events provide the foundation for fundraising towards the improvement of facilities.

Since 2003 over £77000 has been raised to upgrade the heating, fire and safety energy conservation systems and new access and toilet facilities for the disabled. A new kitchen and recently a new meetings/conference room have been added. Exterior redecoration and more car parking complete the latest project cycle.

The Parish Hall Committee, supported by Hethersgill Parish Council continues to fundraise for further improvements.

Hethersgill with its roots in Reiver folk lore and before is the crossroads for a very rural North Cumbrian community of about 400 people. There is lively community involvement in parish activities and the Parish Hall is a popular gathering place for many in the area.

The Black Lion pub nearby is a popular "local".

Why use Hethersgill Parish Hall?

The facility provides a main hall with stage that can accommodate 120 people for meetings or social functions. The hall has one of the best dance floors in the region. Regular monthly dance events play host to number of bands and draw followers from far and wide.

The main hall sees regular use by community groups and is also available for exhibitions and public meetings.

The modern fitted kitchen is fully equipped to support onsite catering or external caterers for functions and meetings.

The new conference room known locally as "the Supper Room", will accommodate 30-40 people in a variety of groupings.

Conference lighting allows for presentations, exhibitions and celebratory events. The room has its own external access including for the disabled and internal access to the kitchen. Under floor heating makes for a comfortable atmosphere in winter.

The hall provides for a range of activities and meetings. The whole facility is attractive to business for comfortable and economic meetings away from the busy office. Community and professional groups will find the facilities at Hethersgill attractive in drawing far flung communities together for day and weekly events.

There is a large car park for 40 vehicles
